Political Race Nears Primary Election

STAN HOVDE
Potential Candidate

Form is neither lenient nor complex. It is my sincere desire to give the ASB the representation that it needs! I stand on my feet to accept the responsibility and challenges of the office. I pledge my ability to give you objective, mature leadership. I realize the importance of the democratic process and support, the basic for which all levels of government must stand. I am confident that I have the ability to give you positive leadership in 1964-65. I am tired of a certain type of running your school ASB President and not representing your views ob-

JOHN KINSEY
Presidential Candidate

I am very pleased with the way the campaigning for the various ASB offices has been running. There is genuine interest among the candidates, and the competition is very keen.

I feel that this type of competition is not only desirable, but definitely needed. Only when the competition is strong will the best candidate be selected.

I am also quite pleased with the interest aroused among the students. By the comments I have heard from students in the lounge, I feel that a large majority will turn out in this election and put the best candidate in office.

Primary elections for the offices of president and vice president will be held Monday, April 20 from 9:00 to 3:30 in the student lounge. Students must present their ASB cards to vote.

Winners of the primary and candidates for the offices of secretary and representative will be voted on in the final election scheduled for Friday, April 24. Results of the election will be posted shortly after the polls close.

Running for the office of president are: Ron Spelley; John Kinsey; Wally Peterson, and Stan Hovde. Candidates for vice president are Dean Heiling, Gregg Reed, and Steve Tarh-bochia. Monte Coleman and Sandra Green are candidates for secretary, and Don Burk-hart and Don Detrick for representative.

ASB President Gary Starkey had this comment on the coming election. "The 1963-64 student body elections will be either a rerun of the student apathy expressed at election time in most community colleges or an unprecedented expression of interest in the issues."

If I could choose which of these expressions will be in evidence in this election, I would choose the latter. The greatest trial of representative student government takes place at the polls. There are issues in this election which should be the vital concern of every student. If the student body elects representatives who are uninformed on these issues, the 1964-65 school year will be a step toward the dark ages for the CBC student body."

RON SPELLEY
Presidential Candidate

I am a strong advocate for the development of school spirit. I feel that more teamwork on behalf of everyone concerned, not just a select few, is needed. I am confident that if all students of the sophomore class for next year would set an example, the freshmen entering the school next year would follow.

I believe a solution to this problem might be by having intra-club intramurals. I am sure if the interest is there the physical education department will start more intramurals. I would like to start father-son and mother-daughter days, also.

WALLY PETERSON
Presidential Candidate

There are several basic problems which confront CBC. I believe that if one closely examines these problems, a common source can be found. This source is the familiar problem of school spirit.

Because this is a junior college, many students do not believe that academic excellence is as important as it might be in a four year school.

If I were to be elected ASB president, I would promote scholarship through means such as discussion groups and clubs stressing the importance of learning.

ANOTHER FACET of school involves the relationship of the athletic department with the school as a whole. I would promote a more extensive program of acquainting the students with their representatives on the athletic field. This would tend to bring about a feeling of personal contact and hopefully better spirit at games.

Finally, I would stress the importance of affiliating council with the student body. Explaining decisions is an important step to school unity and spirit.

Realizing that all problems will never be solved, I believe that I can make definite improvements in these fields while at the same time continuing the stable system of government now employed in student council.

According to Mr. French, the new trees are more suitable for the soil and climate of the area.

The trees, purchased from Job's Nursery, include European Sycamores (planted on the east end of the school) Flowering Cherry (in front of the science building) Ornamental Plum (in front of the administration building) and Austrian Pine (to line the path from the teacher's parking lot to the gym).

The school district hired Brian Byse and Leroy Hough to plant the trees. Brian estimated they had planted 29 trees.

Guidance To Move

George E. Haas, guidance counselor, said that his branch of the guidance department and that of counselor Jacque Selle would be moved into room C-113 next Friday.

The move is being made because the college's telephone equipment will be transferred into their offices.

Most classes that are held in room C-113 will be moved to room C-114. Changes in rooms will be posted when the move takes place.

Mr. Haas said: "We aren't crying over the move, in fact were only too glad to go, due to the heat tunnel that runs through this department. This move is only an interim one since we are looking forward to getting eventually moved into the new edition."

Menon Discusses Asia

P. N. Menon, India General Consulate for the Western U.S. spoke at an assembly last Tuesday, April 14. The title of his speech was "India, China, and the Future of Asia."

Born and raised in India, Mr. Menon attended college in New Delhi. After college he served in the military service for 3 years before going into politics.

Mr. Menon brought out the three main reasons for India's falling out with China: China fastened blame on India for the Tibetan revolt; competition between India's way of life and China's planning, and the fact that China will not recognize India's McMahon line.

Menon said that the sacred cow, snake charmers and the

CBC Publications

The ASB council committee airing complaints about The Collegiate has shown a mature and impartial attitude in its dealings. However, it has overlooked a main issue.

The committee has assumed The Collegiate is only an extension of the ASB activities program, which it is not, that The Collegiate automatically should praise CBC, which it should not.

The Collegiate, by its nature, is not like other ASB organizations. It provides on-the-job training for future journalists. It is a one credit class. It publicizes CBC as a whole institution, and it represents the College in five states through its news-exchange program.

Above all, The Collegiate is a newspaper. It informs, guides, entertains, and sometimes angers its readers. As a newspaper, it has the right, and the duty, to comment and criticize based on the news it presents.

To function, a newspaper must be as objective and as isolated from exterior influence as possible. Yet, Collegiate finances are controlled by the ASB council, even though the council receives a large share of news coverage and comment.

The Collegiate thus reports and criticizes its own publisher.

The ASB council has refused to use financial coercion to influence Collegiate policy, but that it has such a power tends to influence editorial opinion, and objectivity.

The Collegiate recommends that a publications board be created to advise ASB publications on finances and business activities. Consisting of editorial personnel from the different publications, appointed representatives from the ASB and the faculty and administration, the board would free The Collegiate from direct influence by outside interests.

Christensen Speaks On Civil Rights At CBC

Richard Christensen, Republican candidate for Washington

State Governor, spoke to CBC students last Wednesday on Civil Rights.

Mr. Christensen spoke mainly on the Open Housing Legislation which failed to pass the state legislature.

The Open Housing Bill, in content, says that regardless of race or creed, anyone having the money may rent any house. Mr. Christensen said he was against the law because he thought questions of morals cannot be forced upon the public by legislation.

"The problem," Christensen said, "can be solved by electing politicians who are willing to sacrifice their political life by going to the labor unions and business executives and asking them why they oppose the minorities."

"This must be done until these people realize that they can help solve the civil rights problem by giving the minorities a chance to prove themselves."

Vox Populi, Vox Dei . . .

Dear Ed:

The Collegiate Council for the United Nations leaves this Wednesday, at 4:58 a.m., for Spokane, to attend the 18th session of the Far West Model United Nations. Lasting through Saturday, April 18, the session will include morning and afternoon Plenary (Assembly), as well as Committee, meetings; midnight caucuses; a representative from the United Nations Secretariat in New York; an International Ball Friday, lasting from 7:30 p.m. to 1:00 a.m., and an experience that will be memorable as well as rewarding. The session will have delegates from a majority of colleges in the West, including those from the major four-year institutions on the western side of the Rocky Mountains.

During the stay in Spokane, the CBC delegation, representing Denmark, will stay in the new Ridpath hotel along with other members of the Western Bloc.

The trip to Spokane represents a fitting climax to the activities of the CCUN. Thus far this year the group has displayed a fine array of featured speakers, films, literature, and informative discussions to stimulate a wider interest among the members of the student body and faculty in the purpose, significance, and never-ending accomplishments of the United Nations. The many hours of preparation for the session have instilled hope and confidence in the group for an active role in the activities at Spokane.

A great deal of credit goes to Miss Elsa Nordin, the advisor. Through her able explanations of United Nations complexities, the group has gained a wider, richer understanding of international affairs.

FELIX VARGAS,
President of CCUN.

Coast Guard Ask For Applicants

The Coast Guard announced today that civilian applicants for Officer Candidate School that are interested in aviation may be administered the aviation physical examination, aviation qualification test, and flight aptitude test prior to selection. If selected for Officer Candidate School they will be guaranteed flight training prior to assignment to Officer Candidate School.

Potential college graduates may apply for Officer Candidate School up to nine months prior to receiving a degree.

For additional information interested persons should write Coast Guard Officer, 618 Second Avenue, Seattle, or contact their nearest Coast Guard Recruiting Station.

'Sacred Cow' Milks Out One More Performance

BY DALE LONG

Vaudeville held a prominent place in the American theater for nearly fifty years, producing such well known names as Fanny Brice, Burns and Allen, Eddy Cantor, Georgie Jessel, Al Jolson and many others who gave vaudeville its popularity.

When people remember vaudeville, the "sacred cow" of America's entertainment industry, they tend to become nostalgic.

The sacred cow is not dead. She has been resurrected at CBC, and is mooing in anticipation of doing one more stand. The drama and music departments at CBC are now preparing a production entitled "The Death of Vaudeville." It is composed of vaudeville and burlesque skits of long standing in the theater, interspersed with music and dance.

THE PRODUCTION will be presented May 1, 2, and 3, 8:15 p.m. in the Pasco School Auditorium.

Director Donald C. Berger said, "This is based on a vaudeville featuring the kind of talent that our graduates knew in the grand old days when Eddy George M. Cohen worked at the palace."

"The Death of Vaudeville" features a cast of 50 from the students and of CBC. Seven faculty are included in the cast: Devine; Kay Fullagar; Rogers; Roger Bjork; Dixon; Avery Casteel; and Bogenberger.

The Desert Tones; Terry Crabb, will supply comedy songs. They will be supplied by the under the direction of Fitzpatrick.

Technical-Vocational Hold Open House Here

The CBC Vocational-Technical Division will host an open house on campus May 8 and 9.

John Eubank, vocational-technical faculty advisor, said that the purpose of the open-house is to promote interest among the general population in the division and its facilities.

"The goal of this open-house is to better acquaint the people of the south central and south-eastern area of Washington with the training offered at CBC in the fields of vocational-technical education," Eubank said.

Martin Peterson and Gene Birchill are student chairmen of the open-house program, and Wayne Rodgers is faculty coordinator.

Registration will begin at 7:30 p. m., May 8. According to Mr. Eubank, the students have planned this session especially for adults and high school graduates.

From 7:30 to 8:30, at half-hour intervals, Richard Moe, technical illustration instructor, will brief the touring groups on pre-employment education.

Student guides, who will be prepared to answer questions for the visitors, will take groups through the department and return them to the refreshments.

The May 9 program is devoted primarily to school students. Eubank stated that about 45 high school students will be sent to the house.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m., students will hear speeches for 30 minutes on the vocational-technical division at CBC. After lunch, in the afternoon, the students will be invited to visit the department, the CBC vocational students and instructors.

CBC vocational-technical students will also demonstrate in the laboratories.

Gene Birchill, ASB al - Technical Representative, will display a chart illustrating the relationship between Vocational-Technical education and the CBC student guides.

for CBC were Bill

Wilkie and Jim Terbasket, respectively.

On Tuesday CBC took two very important Washington Junior College conference games from Yakima JC.

The first game was a marathon as the Hawks beat YJC 7-6 in 11 innings.

The second was just as close as CBC clipped the Indians, 6-5. Winning pitchers were Rick Johnson and Jim Chubb.

The Hawks are now 4-0 in conference play, and 6-5 for the year.

Golfers Drop Match

On Wednesday of last week, CBC lost its second straight match of the year. Eastern Washington State College Jayvees beat the Hawks 9-3 in medal competition.

The team opened its 1964 conference schedule with a win last Friday over Skagit Valley JC at Mount Vernon.

The Hawks had a 365 to the Cardinals' 377. Jerry Walker of Skagit was medalist with 42-37. Ray Sutphen led CBC with 44-42-86.

Pete Hedlund scored with 47-45-92, Terry Parcell with 47-45-92, and Mike Wiitala with 46-49-95. For Skagit Dave Prutzman scored with 42-40-82, Larry Hanson with 44-48-92, and Henry Ploeg with 59-65-124.

The Hawks are now 1-0 in league play and 1-2 for the year.

Sports Notes

An error was made in last week's story concerning CBC's women's bowling team at the tournament at Eugene. Mary Lynn Casten and Nina Reidell had a 944 doubles series, not a 94 as the article said.

At first glance one might believe CBC's intercollegiate athletic competition to be entirely male, but women dominate two activities, bowling and tennis. CBC is not completely void of interest in these supposedly minor activities.

I wholeheartedly support our fine athletic teams. However, football or baseball for the less than exceptional athlete is worthwhile mostly during his younger years. I believe that increased attention should be focused on activities valuable in later life. Students with enough motivation and some ideas on the subject will find an authoritative ear to be quite receptive.

Coach Pyne's varsity baseball Hawks are now on top of the 1964 league schedule. I believe that they will stay there. Why not go see them this weekend?

Winning Streak Continues

Last week CBC's Frosh baseball team continued its winning streak.

On April 8 the Hawks beat Kennewick High on the Lions' home field, 2-0. Lion hurler Butch Hill held CBC to one hit until the seventh. The Hawks capitalized on two errors, a walk, a stolen base and a double by Fred Worthing to score their two runs in the last inning. Jim Terbasket received the win.

Coach Gler's team extended its streak to eight straight wins by taking two from North Idaho JC last Friday afternoon, 5-4 and 8-2.

CBC came from behind in the seventh frame of the first game to score three runs. Fireman Paul Chadderdon relieved starter Joe Courtney and received the win.

The Hawks walked away with the second game as Dan Davis and Walt Schroeder held NIJC scoreless into the last inning. Davis was the winner.

Results of yesterday's game with Central Washington State College at Ellensburg will appear next week.

Civil Rights:

Nothing to Lose but Prejudice

Guest speaker on civil rights, Pasco Attorney Robert E. Jackson, spoke before the CBC Student Y group last Friday.

Mr. Jackson began his presentation with the contention that Americans have been brainwashed into thinking that those who represent the power structure in this country and are responsible for the perpetuation of segregation have too much to lose should they commit themselves to the cause of racial equality.

Mr. Jackson said, "We must not look among the ranks of the deprived and marginal people in America to discover those who perpetrate and maintain discrimination. Racial discrimination is perpetrated and maintained by people who have nothing to lose but their prejudices. They are more often than not "University-trained Christians."

LATER IN his speech he said that although attention must be given to the Negro "ghetto" problem, it is toward the "sick minds" of active racists that greater activity must be directed if Americans, black and white, are to resolve the current race situation.

In the question and answer period that followed, a student asked Mr. Jackson, "Why is it that the American Negro is receiving so much attention when there are other minorities in this country?" Mr. Jackson replied, "Such is the case because the Negro represents the largest minority in America and has received the greatest degree of oppression." He added, "There is also the idea that if one can accept a Negro, he can accept anything."

Another student asked: "Does the Negro in the South really want freedom?"

Mr. Jackson replied, "Yes."

IN RESPONSE to another question, Mr. Jackson said that he referred to the "we" and "they" in his speech, because the fact is, there is a we and they; the "we" being those who are working to end segregation, and the "they" are those who are actively opposing integration.

Commenting on the civil rights bill now before Congress, Mr. Jackson said that provisions of the bill about no change in the American system, and consequently no valid basis to that the bill will bring about integration.
